SIX ID CARE PHYSICIANS NAMED TO CASTLE CONNOLLY MEDICAL LTD. LIST OF TOP DOCS

HILLSBOROUGH, NJ – U.S. News Media Group, in collaboration with Castle Connolly Medical, Ltd. has released its 2011 selection for the Top Docs from across the country. ID CARE, the most comprehensive group of Infectious Disease specialists in the State of New Jersey and the second largest of its kind in the country was honored to have six of its physicians included in the Top Docs list.

U.S. News Media, which publishes U.S. News and World Report, developed the national listing of Top Doctors based on peer recommendations based on clinical skills. Castle Connolly assembled the roster of Top Doctors by soliciting nominations from physicians in academic medical centers, specialty hospitals, and regional hospitals and physicians in private practice. Peer nominations were vetted on a physician-led research team that evaluated training, achievements, appointments, and credentials.

ID docs earning the recognition include Dr. Ronald Nahass, Dr. Donald Allegra, Dr. David Herman, Dr. Richard Krieger, Dr. Edward McManus, and Dr. John Middleton.

US News has established a publicly searchable database of nearly 30,000 peer-nominated physicians from across the country. The information is available at <http://www.usnews.com/top-doctors>.

U.S. News Top Doctors builds on the Best Hospitals rankings, which now allows health consumers the opportunity to see which Top Doctors practice at the 700-plus hospitals in the 22nd annual rankings by visiting www.usnews.com/best-hospitals.

ID CARE physicians focus exclusively on the diagnosis, prevention, & treatment of infectious diseases. The medical staff provides consultation, care & education from five office locations in north & central New Jersey.

ID CARE mission is to provide the highest quality infectious disease care to patients, their families, and the New Jersey community within an environment that is supportive to our entire staff, each member of our group, and our respective families.
